

I feel my main focus over the next 2 years, as Assistant Head Boy will be to better the communication between the pupils and the staff at Astley because that link is one of the most valuable tool that we have.

Astley pupils have a lot of ideas on what they would like to get from their school and I feel it is my duty, along with Sheri, to listen to these idea's and make them a reality.

To start off I would like to raise awareness of the role of Assistant Head Boy and Assistant Head Girl and the school's council showing the benefits and possible opportunities that will follow. Hopefully this will encourage more people to get involved with ideas and possibly putting themselves forward next year.

I know Astley has a lot of links with external partners and organisations. I would like to add to these and use them to their full potential by getting pupils involved throughout the school with the planning and organisation of events and activities this will allow students to feel they have accomplished something worthwhile during their time at this school and this will also build bridges between the separate years.

My ultimate goal is to spread the good name of Astley through the community to encourage more people to see Astley as a positive environment to learn successfully. I hope to make Astley even better, even though how impossible it seems for all pupils. This is going to take a lot of hard work, determination and most of all team work to accomplish, but with pupils and teachers like those we have here at Astley, I am confident we can accomplish this.
